

Dear 7th grade students and parents,

I bet you're very excited about starting your summer vacation. I hope it's filled with fun and I also hope that you'll spend 20-30 minutes each day curled up with a good book. I have selected some for you to read. Each book is accompanied by several activities that will be due on the first day of school. For more details, see the attached page.

I have also put together a list of materials that you will need. Having the list early will allow you to shop a little at a time and watch for sales. Please have your materials with you on the first day of school.

Thank you and have a happy and safe summer,
Mrs. Streeter

MATERIALS

pencils with erasers
blue(or black) and red pens
crayons
colored pencils
pencil sharpener
scissors
glue stick
white liquid glue 2 inch binder

- If your homeroom teacher has already requested any of these materials, you need not buy duplicates. However, you do need a 2 inch binder.
- Marble Composition notebook will only be needed by new students entering grade 7. I have collected and stored their 6th grade "Reading and Writing" notebook to be used in 7th grade Reading class.
